Insight of ASHRAE Research Program.....

Over the years since 1960, ASHRAE has sponsored numerous research studies at universities and research firms all over the world. The results of these studies have been used:

- Advances in medical treatment
- Control of infections / Quarantine Facilities
- Making food safer and last longer
- Making air travel healthier
- Protecting us from terrorism
- Fighting global climate change

Almost all the projects have been reported in presentations made at Society meetings or technical conferences and have been published in ASHRAE Transactions, Journals or in conference proceedings. These projects have also been beneficial to engineers and researchers practicing in the sciences of Heating, Ventilating and Air-Conditioning (HVAC) systems as well as in training university and college students as they prepare for service in the HVAC&R industry.

ASHRAE's mission is "TO IMPROVE THE QUALITY OF LIFE AND TO ANSWER TOMORROW'S QUESTION THROUGH RESEARCH TODAY" has been the catalyst and sole driving force of today's ASHRAE Research Program. Much can be gained by the results of its findings and discoveries.
